HORTON ARMS. DERBYSHIRE.

A Stag's head cabossed, silver; attired, gold; and, for distinction, a canton ermine. Crest, out of the waves of the sea proper, a tilting spear erect, gold; enfiled with a dolphin, silver; finned gold.

CABOSED means cut off short so as not to show the neck.

ATTIRED denotes the horns.

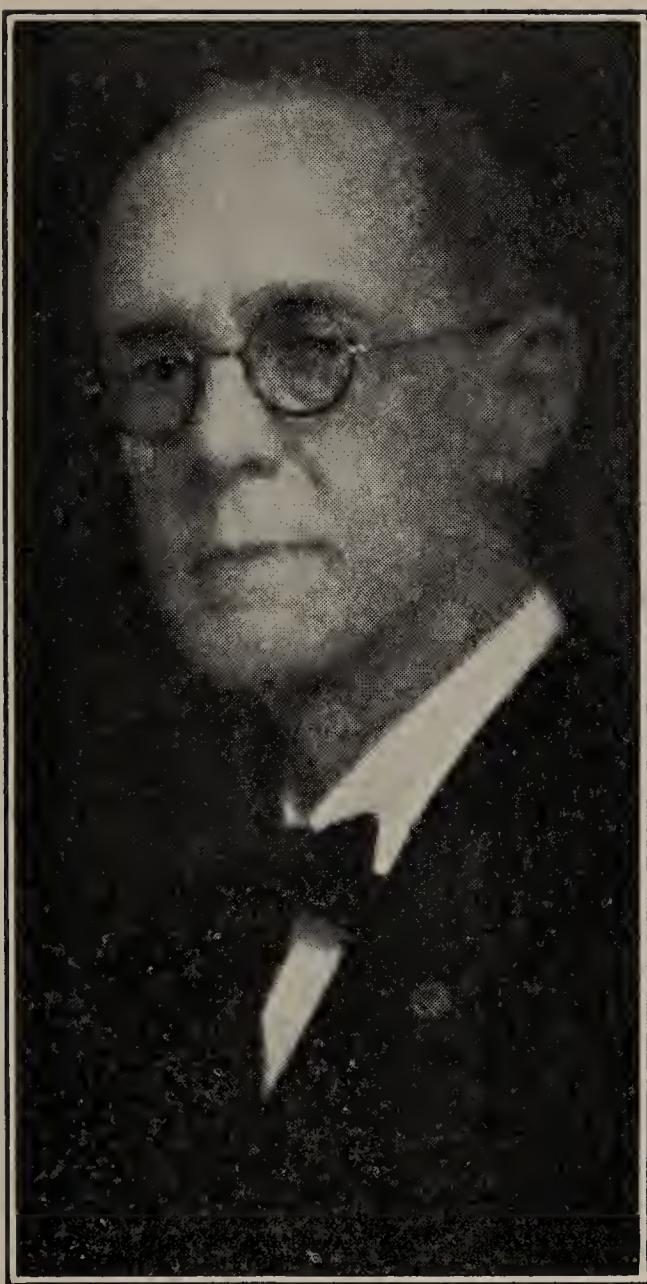

CANTON ERMINE means the black spots upon the white field in the left-hand corner.

MOTTO:—"Quod Vult, Valde Vult," What he wills, he wills cordially and without stint.

Arms are hereditary, but the mottoes are not.

TO MY PARENTS

Eli and Mary (Horton) Alloway, who transmitted to me a healthy physique, a sound mind,
and a natural belief in God.

REFERENCE MARKS

The circle figure (⑧) denotes the head of that branch. The next reference mark (1.) denotes children. The small letter (a) grandchildren, and the small figure (1) great grandchildren.

FOREWORD

The early Hortons mentioned in this book were industrious, skillful, intelligent. They were not so intelligent in book knowledge, but intelligent in knowing that people to lead a successful life must recognize God as being first, and to employ all their God-given powers as far as possible, and in the best practical way.

Their chief pursuits were agriculture, blacksmithing, carpentry and painting. Very few professional persons were among them, but their character foundations of honesty, industry, and steadfastness were so completely and securely laid that their descendants can truthfully say, "We were left a fortune grander far than any amount of money could buy."

It is fair to say these descendants have used their ancestral heritage in a manner befitting worthy children of a noble parentage.

Probably all honorable professions exist among these descendants, and business of a large and responsible character is managed by many of them. The ministry, school teaching, medicine, the law are among the chosen professions. Banking, electricity, civil engineering and railroading are favorite occupations, and many of the most successful farmers in the United States belong to the Horton family. All labor of whatever character that has for its aim the helping of individuals, the community, the state, the nation is honorable and the Hortons are found somewhere doing their bit.

The Hortons have had the rare good fortune of marrying into desirable families who have added luster to the Horton's distinguished history, and when we say "Horton," we mean all the connections included.

The Hortons have been and are of a religious nature and a church-going people. Many denominations may be found among them but the four leading denominations having the most Horton adherents are Baptists, Lutherans, Methodists, Presbyterians.

The Hortons are not given to drunkenness or other sinful revelings. They are industrious, law-abiding, honest, sincere. They are not found in jails nor almshouses, but in the busy business of every day life making an honest living and being neighbors to all who need service, sympathy, and encouragement. They do not believe in war, but if circumstances bring on war, they are among the first to respond to their country's call.

FOREWORD

All the wars since the Battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775, in which our country took part, the Hortons have done their full share.

We can justly feel proud of our ancestors and their descendants, and we trust future generations of this family may ever walk and act to sustain the illustrious reputation of the Hortons.

To write a book with only one's self partaking is a great undertaking, but when the number participating runs into hundreds and those concerned into thousands, it is a stupendous task.

With everyone writing as plainly as he can, it is often difficult to decide the exact name and the exact meaning of the letters sent in. Some letters were so poorly arranged as to make the meaning almost impossible.

Any families or individuals not mentioned in the book are omitted because they could not be learned, although the author wrote many times for them.

The securing of this data and the exchange of letters has been pleasant and so many kindly assisted me that it is impossible to name them all, but I am sincerely grateful to those who in any way aided me. There will no doubt be errors, but I have done my best. Few family records are properly kept now and the older people have passed on, so it is almost impossible to get the names. I have spent very much more than a year in collecting these facts. Some families sent more history than others and this accounts for the differences in amounts.

I have tried to arrange the families so it will be easy for each one to find his own particular relationship. Every one mentioned is related to all the rest.

There are three groups of Hortons in Central Pennsylvania. The ancestors of all these groups so far as we know are Samuel, born in 1752; Nathan, in 1754; and John about 1760, who settled on Broad Top, Pa. Very little is known of John's family, but Samuel's and Nathan's history is quite well established.

Some of the descendants remain on Broad Top and are known as the Broad Top group. Many of Samuel's descendants settled in Trough Creek Valley, Pa., and are known as that group. Many of Nathan's descendants settled in Wells Valley, Pa., and are known as that group. Since starting this book, I have learned of another group which we shall call the Tennessee group. They are descendants of Josiah Horton, born 1756, and a brother of Samuel, Nathan, and John. He left Pennsylvania more than one hundred fifty years ago and was completely lost to the other groups. We consider this an interesting and happy discovery and gladly insert it with the rest of our Horton families.

A few of each of the four groups are located with all groups, and members of all groups are scattered throughout the whole United States including Alaska.

This little volume now goes forth on its mission of love and relationship, and the author trusts it meets the approval of all who read it. His warmest affection and sincerest friendship go with it.

He closes with this personal opinion: that kind acts of helpfulness, gently spoken words of encouragement, and friendships that are true are seasoned with the flavor of heaven, and go far in making easier, more contented, and more successful life's eventful journey.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY

George Washington Alloway, son of Eli Alloway and Mary (Horton) Alloway, was born near Broad Top City, Pa., May 20, 1855. The father had not been well for three years and the family moved to Iowa hoping he would improve but he did not and they came back to Broad Top City where the father soon died. The family funds had been exhausted and poverty was their lot. George was not yet twelve years of age and went home with his father's uncle, John Alloway, who had come to the funeral. It was a sad journey but circumstances required it. He worked on his uncle's farm in Wells Valley for his boarding and clothes until he was seventeen. This work was hard for the young lad but this family taught him to do a thing when told and to do it right. These two habits have been a great help to him all through life.

George was of a studious nature and at the age of seventeen, through the fatherly interest of County Superintendent, Harry Woodal, he secured a school and taught consecutively for fifty-four years. The last forty-five of these years were as principal of grade schools in Youngstown, Ohio.

In 1896, he matriculated with the Northeastern Ohio Normal College in Canfield, Ohio, and in 1906 graduated with the A. B. degree. During these ten years he taught continuously and studied the required subjects (43) of this College.

Until a few years ago, Ohio did not have county superintendents of schools and the applicants for teaching were examined by a board of three examiners appointed by the court for a term of three years. George held this position for twenty-three years or until a law providing for county supervision was enacted.

He held all school offices of the county and is past president of the county institute. He is also a past secretary of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers Association, which includes thirteen counties.

He joined the Church of God in New Grenada, Pa., when just a lad. Moving from this place and not finding a church of this denomination, he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church and has been an active member ever since. He served as secretary of the official Board of the great Trinity Church in Youngstown twenty-six years, and, when he left the city, he was made secretary emeritus.

Until time began to show on him, he was an active worker in the Y. M. C. A.

HORTON HISTORY

Fraternally, he is a Mason. He is a member of Western Star Blue Lodge, Youngstown Chapter Royal Arch, Buechner Council, St. John's Commandery; Hiram Lodge of Perfection, Princes of Jerusalem, Rose Croix in Youngstown, Ohio, and Lake Erie Consistory in Cleveland, Ohio. He is a member of Al Koran Shrine, Aut Mori Grotto, and the Order of the Eastern Star.

He belongs to three patriotic societies: The Patriotic Order Sons of America, Junior Order United American Mechanics, Daughters of America.

God has been good to him all through his eventful life and to Him he gives honor, praise and thanksgiving.

In his seventy-fourth year, he is living a retired life in Saxton, Pa. with his sister, Miss Elizabeth J. Alloway and his widowed daughter, Mrs. Nellie E. Hayes.

CHAPTER I.

The word Horton in Anglo-Saxon means an inclosure, or a garden of vegetables. It is supposed to be derived from ort meaning plant, and tun meaning inclosed. The name is of Latin and Roman origin.

The Hortons in England and their descendants, in America have generally been cultivators of the soil. They have always been producers rather than consumers. They are noted for their industry, integrity, and piety. They were Puritans in England. In England, they had a coat-of-arms and a motto, “Quod Vult, Valde Vult” meaning “What he wills, he wills cordially and without stint.” The antiquity of the Horton family is lost in oblivion until a few years previous to 1310 when history states that Robert Horton had a manor, owned lands, and kept slaves. Horton history is then traditional for 268 years when Joseph Horton was born in 1578.

JOSEPH HORTON was the son of William Horton and Elizabeth Hanson, but we have no records of the dates of their births. Joseph was married but his wife's name is not known nor the names of his children except Barnabas Horton I.

BARNABAS HORTON I. was the son of Joseph Horton and was born in Mousely, Licester County, England, in 1600. His wife's name was Mary, but we do not know her maiden name.

They had ten children, all born in Southold, Long Island, except Joseph and Benjamin, who were born in England. Joseph, Benjamin, Caleb I, Joshua, Jonathan, Hannah, Sarah, Mary, Mercy, Abigail.

Barnabas Horton I, the ancestor of our family, was large in stature, had a ruddy complexion, and was of a social disposition. He was a man of solid piety; and a warm advocate of civil and religious freedom. His children were the first Hortons of our family to be born in America (Southold, Long Island).

The first Hortons who came to America, came somewhere between 1633-1638 Thomas, Jeremiah and Barnabas I, supposed to be brothers, were first.

Thomas came over in 1633 in the boat, “Mary and John” and settled in Springfield, Massachusetts. Tradition says Jeremiah and Barnabas I, came about 1638 in the boat “Swallow.”

HORTON HISTORY

Southold, Long Island, where the Hortons finally settled, was called "Yennycock" by the Indians. The Hortons changed it to Southold after Southwold, England.

¹CALEB I, was the son of Barnabas I, and his wife, Mary, and was born in 1640 in Southold, L. I. He married Abigail Hallock, daughter of Peter Hallock the Pilgrim. They had ten children.

Barnabas II, Jonathan, Nathan, David, Mary, Hannah, Abigail, Esther, Rachel, Ruth.

BARNABAS II, was the son of Caleb I, and Abigail Hallock. He was born in 1666 in Cutchoge, L. I. He married Sarah Hines. They had four children, Caleb II, Barnabas III, Penelope, Bethia.

CALEB HORTON II, was the son of Barnabas Horton II, and Sarah Hines. He was born December 22, 1687, in Southold, L. I. He married Phebe Terry. They had eleven children, all born in Southold, L. I.

Caleb III, born 1715, married Sarah Benjamin. Hannah, born 1717, married Samuel Sweazy. Nathaniel, born Oct. 13, 1719, married Mehitabel Wills. Nathan, born 1720, married Mehitabel Case. Phebe, born 1722, married Henry Tuthill. Elijah, born June 19, 1724, married Lydia Sweazy. Richard, born 1726, married Elizabeth Harrison. Rhoda, born 1728, married Robert Robinson. Mary, born 1731, married Richard Terry. Rachel, born 1733, married Johnathan Racket. Sarah, born 1735, married Stephen Sweazy.

We don't know in what way any of the above persons are related to the Central Pennsylvania Hortons except Nathaniel and Richard.

Nathaniel Horton married Mehitabel Wells. They had six children.

Deacon Nathaniel, born in Southold, 1741. Benjamin, born 1743. David born Sept. 2, 1750. Daniel, Dolly, Mehitabel.

Deacon Nathaniel Horton married Rebecca Robinson. They had eleven childred:

Huldah, Rebecca, Jonah, Susan, Polly, Nathan, Hiram, Mehitabel, Elisha, Nathaniel Esther.

Deacon Horton was one of the excellent of the earth, loved by all. His brother, David Horton, was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, served to its close, drew a pension, and was a man of integrity and sound Christian character.

HORTON HISTORY

Rebecca Horton, Daughter of Deacon Nathaniel Horton and Rebecca (Robinson) Horton, was born in Chester, Pa., December 31, 1763, and died in Scipio, N. Y., in 1840. She married Benjamin Fordyce. They had five children:

John, born March 2, 1791, died Jan. 21, 1868. Eunice, born July 4, 1792, died Nov. 20, 1861. Benjamin, born June 11, 1797, died Dec. 10, 1870.

Nathaniel Horton, born Jan. 4, 1799, died—. Rebecca, born July 27, 1805, died July 7, 1829.

Mrs. Fordyce was a pious woman. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church and highly esteemed.

JOHN FORDYCE, married Anna Wilkinson. They had one son, John Horton Fordyce.

JOHN HORTON FORDYCE, born in Scipio, N. Y., Aug. 23, 1835, married Louisa Close, Jan. 12, 1859. He died Nov. 13, 1862. They had one child, George Lincoln, born in Scipio, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1860.

GEORGE LINCOLN FORDYCE¹ moved to Youngstown, Ohio in 1863, and was married, June 25, 1890 to Grace Walton. They had three children: George Lincoln, Jr., Rebecca Walton, Louise Horton.

GEORGE LINCOLN FORDYCE, JR., born Aug. 18, 1892, deceased.

REBECCA WALTON FORDYCE, born May 20, 1894, married Oscar Francis Gayton, Sept. 13, 1919. Address, Youngstown, Ohio.

They had three children:

Louise Fischer, born May 30, 1921. George, born Aug. 23, 1923. Grace-mary, born Nov. 1, 1924.

LOUISE FORDYCE, born August 3, 1898, single.

¹We are pleased to find Mr. Fordyce and his line of Hortons so closely related to us of Pennsylvania. He is a man of sterling character, genuine integrity, and mature judgment. He has one of the largest department stores in Youngstown, Ohio, which he started in 1883, but he finds time for many outside services. He is president of one of the hospital associations, a director in banks, a member of the Presbyterian Church, is interested in the philanthropic movements of the city, and is an ornithologist of national reputation. He is the local authority on birds and gives many free illustrated lectures in the schools to interest children in bird life. As a boy, he was not robust and healthy, but his living so much in the open air studying birds has left him hail and hearty at 68, and a skillfull golfer. His daughter, Louise Horton Fordyce, is an expert in golf. She held the Ohio State Championship for three years, won the north and south championship at Pinehurst, N. C., in 1926 and went to semi-finals in the Women's National Championship in St. Louis. She is a High School graduate and a graduate of the Shipley Boarding School, Bryan Mawr. Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayton are High School graduates. She is also a graduate of Bryn Mawr College and he of the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Gayton is connected with the Fordyce store.

Mr. Fordyce's father was a soldier in the Civil War and died while in service.

Mr. Gayton was rejected in the World War on account of his eyes. Thus ends the history of Deacon Nathaniel Horton. We shall next take up his brother.

CHAPTER II.

OUTLINE OF HORTON HISTORY

PART I.

RICHARD HORTON, born in 1727, in Southold, L. I., was a son of Caleb Horton II, and Phebe Terry. He married Elizabeth Harrison. It is a tradition that she is of the same line as Benjamin Harrison of Virginia, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and the two Harrisons who were Presidents of the United States. Richard and Elizabeth were Quakers and lived in Radnor, Pa., where the following children were born:

Samuel (1752), Nathan (1754), Josiah (1756), Jesse, John (1760), Thomas Septimus (deceased).

Samuel, Nathan, and John settled in Huntingdon County, Pa., Josiah in North Carolina. We have no records of Jesse and Thomas.

SAMUEL HORTON married Martha Evans. They had ten children:

Abner, married Susan Lockard. Josiah, married Katherine Fluke. John, (went west about 1840, no record). Samuel, married Foster. Thomas J. married Sarah Foster. Patty, married John White (son of Thomas White of Boston Tea Party). Septimus, married Wealthy Foster. Elizabeth, married William Anderson. Margaret, married Thomas Whited. Catherine, married John Evans (brother of Joseph Evans).

No record of the above family except for Abner, Josiah and Thomas I.

NATHAN HORTON, married Rebecca Priest. He was a skilled blacksmith and a man of good character and standing. They had ten children: William (1789), Henry and Mary, twins, born January 25, 1791, Thomas P. (1793), Catherine, Rebecca, Deborah, John, Elizabeth, Nathan Priest. Thomas P. is thought to belong to this family. P likely stands for Priest and he was born two years (1793) after my grandfather. My mother never spoke of him as uncle, but from several sources, I am convinced he belongs there.

William, married Rebecca Griffith. Henry, married Elizabeth White. Mary, (record incomplete). Thomas P., married Rachel Edwards. Catherine, married George White. Rebecca, married Phillip Barnett II. Deborah, married John Edwards. John, married Mary (Polly) Alloway. Elizabeth, married Thomas Griffith. Nathan Priest, married Eleanor Kelly.

Because of her fine intelligence and gracious and friendly disposition, she was a great help and inspiration to her family and friends, and considered no sacrifice too great to make in their behalf. She was especially interested in progressive movements for the betterment of the community in which she lived, and took an active part in educational welfare work, helping to promote the cause of woman suffrage, and the organization of child welfare associations, and community activities. She was a member of the State Federated Woman's Clubs of Iowa. She had many interests in life, but her most loving thoughts centered in her home and family. She carefully trained and directed the education of her children, and, as a result of her help and inspiration, her four daughters are graduates of the State University of Iowa and her son from the University of Michigan. She was active in religious work and was a deep student of the Bible, graduating from teacher's and student's courses of religious instruction. Her influence was far-reaching and her life and example an inspiration to all who knew her."

John H. Grove, clerk to yard master, Middle Division, P. R. R., attended Gettysburg College and taught school. John H. Grove, Jr., is clerk to supervising agent, Tyrone Division, P. R. R. Glenn Grove is a gunsmith in John D. Cox's store, Tyrone, Pa. Dale Grove manages A. & P. store, Bethlehem, Pa. Alberta Cupper, Dale, Mabel and John H. Grove, Jr., are High School graduates. Mr. W. G. Correll of Americus, Kansas, attended the State Teachers' College of Kansas, taught school some years, and then entered into the stock business. To him we are indebted for the following interesting Horton-White history. Catherine Horton married George White. Their daughter, Rebecca, married S. R. Correll of Wells Valley, Pa., in 1865. One child, W. G. Correll.

1. W. G. CORRELL married Cora Moore of Kansas in 1893. Two children: Effie R., born in 1896; Ruth, born in 1904. Effie R. attended College of Dramatic Art in Chicago. She specialized in mathematics receiving a degree from Teachers' College of Kansas. She has taught higher mathematics for several years in Wichita and Topeka, Kans.

b. RUTH CORRELL, single, is a High School graduate, a college student, and at present a teacher in Wichita, Kan. She specialized in Domestic Science and will soon receive a degree from the State Agricultural College of Manhattan, Kan.

The Whites who migrated to Kansas and Missouri found the soil fertile, no rocks to pick, no trees to cut except along creeks and rivers, no fertilizer needed, and free pasture. Because of these natural riches and the Homestead Act for 160 acres, agriculture appealed to them. They took chances and won. About fifty per cent of the next generation took up business and professional vocations. E. A. White, son of Geo. W. White, is professor of chemistry in the State University of Kansas located at Lawrence. He has held this position for at least twenty years and has received several degrees from colleges and universities. The present generation of Whites has more High School, college, and university graduates. More are in mercantile business, holding office positions, or school teaching. Perhaps Miss Minnie Miller, a granddaughter of George and Catherine White holds the highest honors. She is a Ph. D. She traveled and studied in Europe specializing in different languages and is a language teacher in the Southwestern College of Kansas. Earl White, a grandson of Ezekiel White, is rated as the wealthiest of this connection west of the Mississippi River. Twenty years ago, he located near Pasadena, Calif., and bought about 400 dairy cattle. He and his helpers milked in relays 20 hours out of 24 and furnished milk in various forms to the city. His land has been absorbed by Pasadena, and he is now an extensive real estate man.

The Whites have always maintained a patriotic and fraternal spirit. Jesse White was a three-year veteran of the Civil War. He belonged to the cavalry and had many thrilling adventures. He was wounded twice. One ear was almost severed and he was shot in the face, losing several teeth. Percie, Charles, Leslie, Claude and Thomas White were in the World War. Claude paid the supreme price on the field of battle and Thomas was retained as a guard after the war had ended.

Eva Griggs, Virginia Miller and Effie R. Correll belong to the D. A. R. Thomas N. B. and Chas. White are Masons. Eva Griggs, Effie R. Gibson are Eastern Stars. George W. and Phillip White were Odd Fellows. Many of the young people belong to college fraternities. Several Whites are teachers and nurses.

Take the Whites of the west as a whole, they are home-loving, law-abiding citizens. None to my knowledge have ever been arrested for drunkenness. Eighty per cent perhaps, own their homes, among which are good farms. They are not grasping, but want to live and let live.

Later, we have learned that Mary, a daughter of Peter and Mary White Gaster, married Francis Marion McCreary. Eleven children: Geo. William, Howard Francis, John Cleveland, Harold Rennells, Walter Ellwood, Chas. Albert, Adda Catherine, Ethel Charlotte, Ruth Anna, Nellie Louise, Curtis Lee.

RUTH ANNA, married Blair Augustus Davison. Two children: Charlotte Juanita and Charles Francis. Address, 507 15th St., Altoona, Pa.

Albert McClain is a carpenter. Eldon E. McClain is a World War Veteran. George W. Barnett was sexton of Mahoning Ave. Methodist Episcopal Church in Youngstown, Ohio. A few months before he died, his legs became paralyzed but his mind was as clear as ever. While lying on his back during these months, he penciled a brief sketch of his life which had been one of deep religious zeal. He had lived for others and to do God's will as he understood it. He calmly and quietly wrote full directions for his funeral. He was to be placed for some hours in the building where he so faithfully performed his duties as sexton and offered up his devotions to God. He directed who should speak in this church at that time and that his body should be taken to his childhood community in the Pennsylvania mountains, in whose house it should remain one night, and then conveyed to New Grenada, Pa., for burial. All this showed his perfect preparation and his faith in God. His dear ones saw to it that his wishes were carried out.

HORTON HISTORY

Josiah Horton (1756) was in the Revolutionary War and served with Washington at Valley Forge. Josiah was an educated gentleman and his wife was a woman of rare intellectual gifts.

Dr. William Dickson Horton was commissioned a staff officer (surgeon) Feb. 6, 1862. He was captured by Gen. Grant, who appointed him staff officer and he cared for wounded soldiers. He was taken on a flag of truce boat, and landed with other prisoners at Vicksburg, Miss., in December. From then on, he had a checkered career but always using his medical skill in caring for the sick and wounded. In 1863, he was taken ill with typhoid fever in Chattanooga, Tenn. He went with a high fever in a box car to Catoosa Springs, Ga., Hospital. The chief surgeon in this was later ordered to the front and Dr. Horton was appointed chief surgeon. Many distinguished surgeons served under him, notably Dr. Robert M. Hunt, of New York. Later, Dr. Horton was sent on a tour of inspection to select suitable sites for hospitals in Mississippi for wounded soldiers. He was sent as staff officer to Meridian, Miss., to care for Federal soldiers ill with smallpox. His next orders were to follow Gen. Joseph E. Johnston to North Carolina. Later, Dr. Horton returned to Georgia, where he remained until the fall of the Confederacy.

Henderson W. Horton was a college graduate and studied medicine. James D. Porter studied law, was a member of the state legislature, chief of staff with Gen. Cheatham, circuit judge, governor of Tennessee, assistant secretary of state during Cleveland's first administration, minister to Chile, president Peabody College.

Joseph Horton Fall, Jr., graduated with honor from Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., '97. He lives in Chicago engaged in financial enterprises of much magnitude. He stands well in social life and the activities of the Presbyterian Church. Avery Handley, Sr., is a prominent attorney in Nashville. Charles Clay Trabue, Sr., is a leading attorney in Nashville. Mary Cornelia Malone is a concert and radio singer, making records for Victrola music. She has a wonderful soprano voice, is a beautiful woman and a devoted member of the Episcopal Church. Judge Thomas Malone is a prominent attorney in Nashville. Joseph White Horton was a man of intelligence and upright life. He graduated from Cumberland University and was the first civil engineer in Tennessee before it was a state. He fought in three wars with Gen. Andrew Jackson, was on his staff when president, was married in the Hermitage, Jackson's home, was pallbearer at Jackson's funeral, and was known as General Horton of the Jackson Guards. He died in 1846.

Mrs. S. W. Davis was a woman of intelligence and sound principles. She was loved and respected by all. Her descendants honor her memory and they are connected with many historically prominent families.

Drs. Duncan Eve, father and son, are popular and highly successful surgeons for the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. Both have received high honors from the medical societies of America. There are three succeeding generations of surgeons of the Eve family. William Henry Evans graduated in civil engineering from Cornell University, N. Y., in 1915. He is a faithful employe of the Standard Oil Company in the United States and in foreign fields. He is a member of the M. E. Church, National Sons of the Revolution, and a Phi Delta Theta of Vanderbilt University. He is a Mason and his grandfather, William H. Evans, founded Old Phenix Lodge of Masons, 131, Dec. 27, 1851, in Nashville. Marie Horton Evans has a most remarkable record paralleling the veterans of the World War. She is a descendant of Josiah Horton and Nancy (White) Horton and a long line of pioneer patriots and notables. She has served her country in many important capacities. In the woman's division of the national organization of the Red Cross and in the various activities of war relief work she has occupied many positions of trust and usefulness.

In chairmanships, directorates and committees her work was of inestimable value. Her county (Davidson) led the nation in value of woman's aid to the Red Cross, as shown by records. Her ability, faithfulness, and self-devotion are recognized. She performed an important part in the Mississippi Valley flood.

HORTON HISTORY

In patriotic societies she has served as regent of her chapter Daughters of American Revolution, active in Colonial Dames, Daughters of the War of 1812, and in patriotic, benevolent, cultural and historical societies of the southland. She is related to Admiral Gleaves, Lady Mary Montgomery, Governors Newton Cannon, James D. Porter and Henry Hollis Horton. She is the youngest daughter of Governor Cannon's youngest daughter.

PART THREE

After the book was finished and at the publisher's, we received some data regarding Jesse Horton and his descendants. We are so happy to get it, but sorry we have no more.

He went to Vermont about 140 years ago. He was one in a family of seven. We now have some history of all but Thomas.

Jesse Horton, son of Richard Horton and Elizabeth (Harrison) Horton and born in Radnor, Pa., (1757), married, first, Nancy Potter. They resided in West Haven, Vt., where he died at the advanced age of 83 years. Five children: Betsey, 1791; Jesse Jr., 1793; Thomas, 1795; Nancy, 1797; Sophia, 1799. We have no record of any except Thomas and it is very incomplete.

Thomas Horton married Mary Carter, daughter of Thomas Carter and Charlotte (DeAngeles) Carter. The latter was born in Italy. Eleven children, all born in Benson, Vt., but the last two.

Thomas Horton, Senior, moved from Vermont to Granville, Ohio, in 1833. He was a volunteer soldier in the War of 1812 and was a hero in the Battle of Plattsburg. He was also a Baptist preacher, a farmer, and a very highly respected citizen. Many of the sturdy, honest and prosperous families of Vermont, Ohio, and other states are descendants of Jesse Horton, whose genealogy we are so pleased to record. Although what data we received concerning this branch of our family tree is limited, yet we are glad to get even this much.

It is only because we had no chance to ascertain their educational progress, their professions their business activities, and a more detailed genealogy that so little is written.
